Dear Richard:

This letter is to inform you that the City of Los Angeles Department of Water and Power will be participating in a test of your D-1280X diesel additive on its own and with the California Air Resources Board.

Prior to beginning these tests, however, the Department is examining the additive in its laboratory to ensure that its use will not harm the engines.

As of yesterday, I am happy to report to you that preliminary laboratory results indicate there is nothing in the additive that would be detrimental to the equipment. The City will, of course, wait for the final report before proceeding with the tests.

As always, your cooperation and assistance in helping the City with its air pollution problem is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Bradford Sales", written over a horizontal line.
